THE DAILY and WEEKLY HERALD has more than double the circulation of any other paper published in Southern California. Business men recognize it accordingly as the best advertising medium South of San Francisco.

SATURDAY, OCT. 23, 1875.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The majority for the Republican candidate for Governor in Iowa is 31,500.

The Davenport & St. Paul railroad is to be sold for the benefit of the stockholders. The episode, in a mild form, has made its appearance in Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

The Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company have completed their line between Chicago and St. Louis.

By the breaking of a cage rope two men were instantly killed in a coal mine at La Salle, Ill., yesterday.

Business failures in the United States within the last year foot up $131,772,503, of which $74,000,000 have occurred within the last three months.

Young Granlee, who killed Madden at Fresno and was sentenced to imprisonment for life, is likely to secure a new trial.

The steamers Ancon, Fiddler, Monterey and Salinas leave San Francisco today for the Southern coast.

Gov. Allen, of Ohio, will take the stump for the Pennsylvania Democracy.

A London dispatch says a number of shipwrecks are reported, with the loss of twenty lives.

There are intimations that the President will take a very decided position in his message to Congress with respect to the recognition of the Cuban belligerents. These rumors have their origin in sources friendly to the Cuban insurgents.

Information has been received at the State Department that the internecine war in Liberia, known as the Palmas rebellion, is ended, and that the colored government has been entirely able to sustain itself. This is the first serious difficulty that the experimental government has had to contend with.

W. Delany, who was convicted of the murder of Capt. Lawrence on board of a schooner in Long Island sound, has been sentenced to be hanged on the 18th of December.

The Medical-Legal Society of New York has taken steps toward forming a complete library of all accessible books on Medical Jurisprudence. The want of such a library is felt there by both lawyers and doctors.

Barnum's hotel, New York, has closed for want of patronage.

The East river bridge, to connect New York with Brooklyn, was commenced in January, 1870. It was to be completed in six years, at a cost not exceeding $10,000,000. Thus far the work has cost $5,800,000. Engineer Robertson says the bridge will not be completed before 1879, and at least $10,000,000 more will be required. The work is progressing slowly.

The incline of the Cairo & Vincennes railroad, on the Illinois side of the Ohio river, is completed, and the first cars were transferred to-day from the Iron Mountain railroad. This completes an unbroken line, without change, from Galveston to New York.

Troops left Chicago yesterday for Berthold, expecting trouble at the Agency from hostile Indians. About 1,000 are camped in the vicinity, and threaten to burn the Agency.

The officers of the Illinois Central railroad deny the report of a consolidation between their road and the Jackson route to New Orleans.

Attorney-General Pierpont has received a letter from Gov. Ames, of Mississippi, in which he thanks Judge Pierpont for sending to the State a special agent, by whose exertions and good judgment all trouble heretofore threatened, arising out of the political campaign, has subsided. The Governor says that those politically opposed to him, if he would disband the military he has organized there, would be for an election without violence.

Johnny Tuers, the minstrel who killed Jas. M. Bowling in San Francisco in 1873, has been acquitted on the ground that the shooting was accidental.

Prince Frederick William has not yet arrived at any decision in regard to his visit to the Philadelphia Centennial.

A royal decree has been issued adjourning the Bavarian Diet until further notice.

Advices from Santander announce that the regular mail steamer from Cuba has arrived there with Sharpley, the New York mariner, as passenger.

The late floods in England have done immense damage. At Rotterdam 2,000 people are out of employment.

Sacramento county gives Carr 1,600 majority over Fitzgerald.

There seems to be trouble in the management of the Chicago Tribune, and rumors are rife concerning various changes. It is said that Horace White will obtain and take the editorial chair, Medill resigning, but the report lacks confirmation.

Russia has decided to participate in the Philadelphia Exposition.

General Sol. Meredith, a prominent Federal general, is dead.

The Santa Monica Outlook says the Los Angeles and Independence railroad can always be held as a check on not only the Southern Pacific but all other roads that may hereafter be built. That depends on who owns it.

The Sonoma Democrat says that the white variety of wheat which was obtained from the Patent office at Washington, and known as the Tonzell, has been tried with the most satisfactory results. Mr. H. WEATHERS, of that county has enough to plant several acres and will give it a fair test.

A fruit car has been constructed at San Francisco upon a very simple and apparently effective plan. A fan blower driven by a band around the axle of the car forces the air through a box filled with ice keeping the temperature in the car as low as 40° F. A trial trip to the East is soon to be made.

Mr. GIRDING, of San Francisco, whose Mexican grants of valuable timber along the coast, to which we referred a short time since, has received orders from England for sample lots and some enterprising Californians have ordered samples of each of the choice woods—some seven hundred in number—for exhibition at the Centennial.

THE consolidated Virginia mine, during the month of September, shipped no less than $1,500,000 of bullion. This is at the rate of $20,000,000 per annum from a single mine in the Comstock Lode. Our telegrams of last evening state also the consolidated ted Virginia has shipped $913,000 this month so that the movement is not spasmodic.

THE dry goods merchants of Virginia City, Nevada recently entered into a compact not to advertise in any of the papers. It was a money saving arrangement and the effect was the opening of several new dry goods stores that did advertise and the failure of a number of old firms that had agreed to the compact. An amusing feature about the business of men who do not believe in advertising, is that they have to come to it at last. The sheriff does it for the benefit of their creditors.

MONEY is quite close in San Francisco and it will be some time before the stringency is removed. The Sacramento Bee says, "The San Francisco savings banks are not loaning money now because the demands of depositors take it out of their vaults as fast as it comes in. Interest there is now running from two to three per cent. for small sums of $20,000 and under. Senator JONES paid one and a quarter per cent. per month for a year, whereas before the failure of the Bank of California, he could have had that loan at about 8 per cent. per annum.

THE ridiculous effort which was being made to substitute silver for the fractional currency in the States, it seems to be abandoned. The mints of the United States need not be able to turn out the necessary number of half dimes, dimes, and quarters in several years, and as each batch was issued it is obvious to any man of common sense it would go into the show windows of some money broker. As long as silver commands a premium it will circulate among the people. Resumption is not to be inaugurated in this way.

EFFORTS are being made in San Francisco to abolish the present system of doing business on open account, collection days falling twice each month; and a substitute of the system in vogue in the East of selling for cash only or on specified time, taking the purchasers note in the latter event. This revolution would bring on the market what is called commercial paper, usually running thirty and sixty days, a thing almost unknown in banking circles on this coast, and would render our banks more elastic and beneficial. The investment of call deposits on long mortgage paper is hazardous, and must sooner or later be abandoned.

A Bad Choice.

It is quite orthodox for Democratic and other Anti Administration journals to find fault with and denounce the President's choice of a successor to Secretary DELANO. It is the business of those journals to cavil at the Administration and its record and no one would be more astonished than the President to find them endorsing an act of his no matter how trivial and unimportant it might be. But when we see leading Republican organs—journals that aided in the election of GRANT and have been the advocates of and apologists of his Administration through good and evil report, condemning and denouncing the appointment of ZACK CHANDLER to a position so important as that which DELANO has just vacated, we are constrained to the opinion that there is something rotten in Denmark—that his majesty has indeed taxed the patience of his apologetes up to and even beyond that point where forbearance ceases to be a virtue. The appointment of CHANDLER Secretary of the Interior is a sort of defiant sneer at the people and an open declaration by the President that it is his own creatures and not honest and capable public servants he would gather around him. It has long been the policy of the President to elevate those whom the people repudiated. If a Senator or Congressman proved himself an unfaithful steward and was ordered to step down and out by his people at home, we soon after hear that the President has appointed him minister, consul to some country abroad or provided him with a lucrative Federal office at home. The appointment of CHANDLER is the latest instance of the Presidents contempt for the will and judgment of the people. He misrepresented the commonwealth of Michigan in the United States Senate until weary of his wrong doing they commanded him to stand aside. Yet this man whom the people of a State would no longer trust is selected by the President to fill a place among the nations cabinet officers. Obedient as they are to the party whip and plant and time serving as they have proved themselves to be, we are not astonished that Republican journals and leaders indignantly resent the outrage which the President has put upon them, their party and the whole nation.

A Glance Forward.

The season through which the people of California has just passed has been perhaps as unfavorable as has ever been experienced on this coast. The wheat crop was a short one, the grape vintage has been depressed, and in addition to a small wool clip the loss of sheep has been unprecedentedly large. When these drawbacks are considered in connection with the damage from the phylloxera and the potato blight, and the final climax of the panic, it may seem strange to many that we are not having a general depression that would be apparent in every branch of business and felt in every household. While it cannot be claimed that we are having flush times in California just now, we are certainly in a prosperous condition, and there is no possibility of any permanent loss, or even repression of confidence. Individuals upon whom the unfavorable season has been particularly severe may suffer, but our society is so segregated and our interests so diverse and independent that a condition of affairs like that which exists in bad years in States relying upon a single industry or a particular staple is a matter of impossibility. We enter the new season now near upon us therefore with full strength to reap all the advantages which the most favorable conditions could offer, and with sufficient vigor to withstand anew a larger share of adversity. The industries of the State are of a healthy character, and as regards the weather, we may with good reason look for a more propitious season than the one through which we have just passed, and hence a more liberal reward for the labors of the husbandman. It behooves our people, therefore, not to be deluded by the croakings of a set of dyspeptics who are constantly looking at everything here through their Eastern spectacles and weighing everything belonging to the Pacific slope in the false scales they brought across the plains. Our young State is full of strength and rich in resources, and the future has in store for her sons rewards beside which all that they have reaped in the past sinks into insignificance.

Let us Economize.

Forty-two years the good citizens of Los Angeles have been asking their tax collectors for a simple list of the parties who pay licenses. How are we to know that there are not hundreds who are liable to pay license who go "scot" free or that they are not compounded and condoned with? Having and seeing the list would satisfy us. Is this not enough to raise the suspicion that in proportion to our tax list we are worse treated than New York city by her Boss TWEED?

The city Clerk and the Marshal are in this case a close corporation and the tax-payers are outsiders who have no means to ascertain or enquire. The law of the State requires the Treasurer to loan out his funds to the highest bidder and a city Council and Mayor awarded it, but never have taken a step to receive, collect or enforce it. It behooves us now to economize. Our people are oppressed at present. There is no sale for any of our products, money is scarce and taxation enormous. They are taxed for improvements that take centuries to accomplish in older communities, and the city Council that should be the friends of their constituents do, perhaps unwittingly, everything to harass and impoverish them.

Eastern Teachers.

We find the following in the Schoolmaster: "Eastern teachers seeking professional employment in California should know that all teachers, except the graduates of State Normal schools, must be examined before they can obtain legal certificates; that no private examination is granted; that the public written examinations begin on the first Wednesday in the months of March, June, September and December, and continue four days; that no engagement can be made until the teachers have obtained a certificate; that all applicants are examined in the following studies: Grammar, orthography, arithmetic, geography, United States history, defining, physiology, natural philosophy, School Law of California, Constitution of the United States and of California, penmanship, natural history, music, reading and drawing; that eighty-five per cent. is required for a first grade certificate, eighty for a second grade, and seventy-five for a third grade; that third grade certificates are not given to gentlemen; that one-half of the teachers from other States fail in these examinations; and lastly that in all the populous counties of California the supply of teachers is always in excess of the demand.

EASTERN NEWS.

Trouble for Zach. Chandler.

NEW YORK, October 22.—The Herald's Washington special says the appointment of Zach. Chandler to the Secretaryship of the Interior is going to breed trouble if not dissension in the Cabinet. Had the ex-Senator been willing to let matters stand as they are in the Interior Department, affairs might have been going on smoothly for the time being and the day of trouble been indefinitely deferred; but the determination which the veteran ex-Senator shows to have the head of Gen. Cowan, the Assistant Secretary of the Interior, means war between Chandler on the one side and Bristow and perhaps Jewell on the other. Gen. Cowan was strongly pushed for the place by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Postmaster-General, but the President consulted his personal pleasure and appointed Chandler, who is a third-termer and a warm supporter of Grant. It is understood that General Cowan and Indian Commissioner Smith have, in accordance with usual party usages in such cases, tendered their resignations to the new Secretary as a matter of form.

[SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.]

EASTERN NEWS.

Affairs of the Pacific Mail.

NEW YORK, October 22.—At a meeting of the Directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to-day a statement, said to be favorable, was presented, showing the net earnings for the period to embrace to be on a basis of two million dollars per annum. The dates were not made public. The Evening Post says: "We could not get a copy of the statement, but were told by directors that it was so favorable that it would not be published, as those not familiar with the affairs of the Company would not understand it."

A cable from China states that the Japanese Company has paid the first installment on account of steamers purchased from the Pacific Mail Company.

Cash Missing.

WASHINGTON, October 22.—At the close of business at the Treasury Department to-day, a deficiency of $2,000 was discovered in the cash account of the Redemption Bureau of the treasury office. Diligent search was made, but up to a late hour to-night the cause of the deficiency had not been ascertained. Should further investigation fail to discover it, the loss will be made good by pro rata assessments upon the employees of the room, most of whom are ladies.

Interior Department Matters.

WASHINGTON, October 22.—In conversation with Gen. Lamont in reference to the probable course of the new Secretary of the Interior Department in the matter of appointments, Judge Edmonds, a personal friend of Chandler, said that gentleman was put into the Interior Department to stir up Republicans who had become lukewarm, and that when the pressure of office came the list of those who had refused to contribute one per cent. on their salaries, called for by a circular issued from his committee would be consulted, and he would not like to stand sponsor for those who had failed to respond.

NEW YORK, October 22.—The Post's Washington special says the rumor that Third Assistant Paymaster General Barber has been tendered General Cowan's place in the Interior Department is unfounded. Mr. Barber says it has not been, nor does he expect it to be, offered to him. So far as can be ascertained Commissioner of Premiums Atkinson is the only Bureau officer in the Interior Department who promptly tendered his resignation when Mr. Chandler assumed charge. His resignation was not accepted, and Secretary Chandler informed Mr. Atkinson that he desired him to remain.

Another effort will be made during the next session of Congress to have all war claims now pending before the Treasury Department transferred to the Southern Claims Commission for adjudication. It is charged that a strong ring, composed mainly of claim agents, has been organized to force this project through. What is expected to be gained by this transfer does not appear, but there is undoubtedly a job intended somewhere.

Another Failure—A Frightful Showing. NEW YORK, October 22.—H. Hoffman & Co., a dry goods firm at 336 Broadway, suspended to-day. Liabilities about $300,000.

Dunn, Barlow & Co.'s mercantile agency has issued a statement on the business failures thus far in 1875. The total failures in the United States for the past nine months foot up 7,334; total liabilities, $131,772,503. The greatest number have occurred within the past three months, involving liabilities estimated at $74,428,237.

Blooded Stock Coming. NEW YORK, October 22.—The thoroughbred horses Revenue, Jr., and Pittsburg have been sent to California. The former will be entered in the $20,000 four mile heat race.

Fire at Sea. NEW ORLEANS, October 22.—Capt. Johnson, of the steamship Royal Standard, from Liverpool, reports that on the 30th of September, in latitude 36 deg. 40 min. North, longitude 31 deg. West, he fell in with a burning wreck and found it had been abandoned. The lower hold was a perfect mass of fire, everything that could burn having been consumed. Finding it impossible to save the wreck and dangerous to allow it to float around, Captain Johnson scuttled it and proceeded on his way to this port.

Execution. ST. LOUIS, October 22.—Henry Brown, a negro, who killed Philip Farr, a farmer living a few miles from this city, and ravished and robbed his wife on the night of the 25th of last May, was hanged in the yard of the jail at the Four Courts at one o'clock to-day. In a brief speech made on the scaffold he admitted having struck Farr the blow which caused his death but denied having outraged Mrs. Farr.

The Tajauta Case.

The original decisions of re-partition in the Tajauta case have been set aside by the Supreme Court, and a new hearing ordered. This is a famous land case. Anastacio Abila left a tract of land of five leagues, as he supposed, this side of Compton. One league of this he bequeathed to his son Henrique and one league to another son, but it has never been known exactly how much land he had, nor the location of the bequest to his sons. In the meantime all this supposed tract has been occupied by settlers, many of whom claim under the authority of parties who are worsted by this decision. The present status of the case is that Henrique Abila and his brother are benefitted by the decision and fifteen other claimants are thrown out.

The expression of a nervous woman's face, upon getting into a dentist's chair, is something that no man can imitate until he gets a letter from his mother-in-law, sharply inquiring if that spare room is ready?

Reynolds broke a thoroughbred, but it did not prevent him making good time. The first hack to arrive in the city was George Baker's, closely followed by Wilson and Avise.

The Anaheim Gazette says: It is absolutely necessary that a night watchman should be on duty in Anaheim. The large number of drunken loafers who infest our streets at night render pedestrianism a dangerous pastime, while the family brawls that sometimes occur doth murder sleep and make an organized police force a necessity.

It is a thrilling feat, and never before attempted. Go early and get a seat.

PROF. CHAS. N. STEEN.

Adventures of a Mind Reader—Second Night and Clairvoyance—Public Exhibitions and Private Seances—A Romantic Marriage—Strange and Eventful History.

Since the departure of Professor Charles N. Steen from San Francisco for Alcatraz Island, he has furnished numerous items for the pens of the San Francisco journalists. His history in San Francisco may be amusing, but his adventures in Los Angeles would fill a dime novel, the Police Gazette or Day's Doings. He came here unheralded as the "only original mind-reader," and first gave an entertainment to a few friends in the parlors of the Lafayette Hotel. His little seance was a success, and duly recorded.

He next essayed to give a public performance, which was not well attended, though he performed well. This being a financial failure, he advertised as a doctor and pretended to cure all bodily ailments by the laying on of hands and a mysterious kind of friction. Among his patients were a paralyzed woman near Los Nietos and an invalid daughter of a Los Angeles street merchant. In the former case he was paid nothing, but in the latter case he received a hundred dollars in gold. What his success in the healing line we never learned, but suppose that it was not surprising—at least to the patients.

PRIVATE SEANCES. In addition to his public exhibitions and medical efforts, he gave private seances at the Lafayette Hotel, which were frequently crowded, so that room 6 became as well known as the house itself. Of course these private entertainments were of a confidential nature, ladies inquired for lost rings and lost affections, and gentlemen asked about blind speculations in mines and prospective profits or losses in mining stocks. The Professor generally said something in French, but he never spoke, it was taken as an evidence of second sight. Frequently he gave surprising information to prominent citizens, but he had always interviewed the house servant or chambermaid in advance, while they were seeking their own fortunes.

HE FALLS IN LOVE. Like all great men, Professor Steen had a profound admiration for woman, and this led him into terrible scrapes. He first married a woman of the town, fair, frail and foolish. He claimed that he desired to reform her, but he made very foolish attempts, and in eight days she returned to her old haunts. Her description of Steen's neglect and inattention would harrow the soul of a monk or curdle the blood of an angel. He never spoke, it was taken as an evidence of second sight. Frequently he gave surprising information to prominent citizens, but he had always interviewed the house servant or chambermaid in advance, while they were seeking their own fortunes.

OTHER ADVENTURES. He next captivated a grass widow, who was passing herself off on innocent young men as a maiden, of fancy free, and numerous loving but badly spelled epistles, commencing "Dear Hubby," and "Dearest" were exchanged. He captured a carbuncle ring of another admirer, which he wore in triumph until he was ordered to get an order for it from the fair deceiver and demanded it of the only original mind reader. She was shortly after shipped to the mountains, out of the reach of Steen's magnetic glances, and Steen was arrested on a charge of kidnapping.

STEEN'S LEGAL TROUBLES. At this juncture he was in imminent danger of a coat of tar and feathers or the chain-gang, but a number of disgusted friends, knowing him to be a strange compound of idiot and lunatic, saw him through the trouble and got his discharge from duress.

While this case was pending he was arrested on a charge of petty larceny, for stealing a pack of cards and a card photograph from a private residence, but the jury gave him an honorable acquittal.

In a few days he visited San Bernardino, where he made a total failure of a public exhibition. In his return he was arrested as a deserter from the United States army, but the Marshal very properly discharged him, as the letter had every appearance of being a put-up job. It purported to be from "Hd. Qrs. U. S. Army, Omaha," and was signed "V. B. Adams & Co., U. S. A." The "Hd. Qrs." was in different ink from the remainder, and it was all written in a clumsy, rough manner.

CHARITY OF HIS FRIENDS. A subscription of twenty-five dollars was then secured, his wife paying eight dollars and a half of the amount and he was sent to San Francisco on the steamer.

OTHER AMOROUS ADVENTURES. In the meantime however he had written to the dark complexioned keeper of a notorious Island Princess, with a fabulous bank deposit and invaluable jewels. His only anxiety in this case was that she might not recklessly squander her wealth in building a house on Main street, when his judgment was in favor of Oakland. He painted her her glowing pictures of a visit to the East and Europe, an interview with Queen Victoria and a return to their little homestead in Oakland, where, with reasonable luck, they would raise their little dark skinned family in peace and plenty. His wooing was gentle, but the Sandwich Island Princess, from Africa, could not see it, and she remained at her humble castle on Alameda street. His next attempt at matrimony was with one of the demi-monde, a blooming brunette, who had just arrived from a European bazaar in China. She was muscular and belligerent and when Steen sent her a touching letter, she sent him an answer. The result of the interview will never be known as Steen arrived at the St. Charles hotel soon after totally demoralized, protesting that some of the boys had given him away.

HIS MOCK TRIAL. His matrimonial exploits being ended for a while, the boys thought they would give him a mock trial, which took place at the St. Charles hotel, one night at twelve o'clock. A jury of four was selected, a judge and a prosecutor were chosen, and an attorney appointed to defend Steen. For three hours Steen was on the witness stand and such an examination! Of course he was found guilty, that was the programme. The verdict was guilty of attempted seduction of a member of the same with Island Royalty and trying to obtain money under false pretences. A motion for a new trial was granted and, but for his departure for San Francisco there would have been a repetition of the farce.

HIS CORRESPONDENCE. In San Francisco he formed an alliance with Miss Clara Simmons formerly mixed with Haskell and then got badly mixed on matrimonial subjects. He wrote to a friend here under date of Sept. 23th: "Tell my wife to come to me and we will go East. Please see if you can't make her come to me." In his next, dated Oct. 3d, he says: "I thank God that I have left Los Angeles. I will send you money soon to pay all my bills. Tell my wife to come to me. I am not a fooling, but we will be happy yet. Give her my best wishes and tell her I am very lonely after her." On October 7th he writes, "Tell my wife I don't want her to come near me no more, I am only fooling in that other letter. I don't want her to come near me any more. I and my dear little Clara will play Saturday night at Pacific Hall." On October 10th, he writes, "My show was a failure. Clara is a good girl and I think the world of her. She played her part very good. I think she will be in New York in two months. Send me some papers from the Golden City of Angels where my daisy blond lives." On the 13th instant he writes: "I and Clara have made a very good engagement at the City Gardens. My next letter is dated Alcatraz, October 17th, and he says: "You will be surprised if you here that they got me on the Island and I guess I will have to put my time in. Give my best regards to my wife. You can't imagine how lonesome I feel here. I am not a fooling, but I get her affectionate husband Prof. Charles N. Steen. I was going to play at the Atlantic Gardens Sunday and I will have to play it out on the Island I guess. When I come out if I live, I will start a very good company. Address Mr. Charles N. Steen, (2) Alcatraz Island, San Francisco Harbor, Cal. P. S. Once more and give my best respects to my dear wife and tell her I am very lonesome after her."

So closes the short but brilliant career of Prof. Charles N. Steen, the only original mind reader, lightning calculator and self-mesmerizer in the world. A deserter from the army, he conceived the idea that the world was full of fools; an ignorant, brainless idiot, he gives out that he graduated at twelve years of age at King's College, London, at nine years of age at Prague; at times he claims to be a Bohemian, an Englishman or an American, as suits his fancy. His figure test is a fraud, as he either has a put up job in advance or watches the motion of his hand. His mind reading is a total failure and self-mesmerism is never attempted. When he has money he is liberal to a fault, but when he is penniless the world owes him a living. He has no idea of propriety or morality, but his cowardice renders him a coward. His careless habits make him a prey to every deceiver man and woman. He imagines that he can conquer a woman by a magnetic glance and he is always in a blissful state of spoonery love. He is destined to live the life of a professional misfortune, the football of ill luck, and his only happiness will be in imagining he is in love. Misfortune daunts him not, hope always lures him on to a more blissful future. He believes he has the power of doing what he desires, and wonders that the world does not acknowledge his genius. He is a useless monomaniac; good for nothing physically, mentally or morally. In the United States army he is out of place, but in a Shaker village, a monastery or an idiot asylum he might make a useful drone. We trust he will be released from service in the army, on account of insanity, idiosyncrasy or general worthlessness. "His dear wife" is the better man of the two and intends to get a divorce at an early date.

Important Decision. The Decree of partition rendered some times in the case of Abila vs. Abila, was on the 19th inst. after argument by Judge Brunson for appellant, and Col. Smith for respondent, reversed by the Supreme Court. This is one of the most important cases appealed from this county for a long time, involving the title and possession of a large tract of very valuable land. It has been litigated in our Court since 1866. All the leading lawyers of Los Angeles have tried strength on it. The chief point involved in the case is the construction of an old Spanish will. We will watch with considerable interest the new trial, that will now be had. The honor of reversing the former decree belongs to Messrs. Brunson and Eastman. They were opposed by Messrs. Hessel, Chapman, Smith, Judge Widney and S. C. Hubbell.

Mrs. Ponet, No. 9 Commercial street, has received from the Eastern emporiums of fashion an extensive assortment of new styles of bonnets, ribbons, feathers, laces and flowers. All styles of hats from the imported Paris pattern hat worth $50 down to the plain straw. Real ostrich tips, staple and fancy ribbons, silk velvets, three laces, and all other fashionable millinery can be obtained at the low, first class trimmers and all in want of fashionable Fall and Winter hats should give her a call. She is daily opening fashionable styles, which receive by every steamer. oct20-21

The Coast Line Stage Company have sent down thirty horses and four stages to complete the equipment of the four-horse stage line between Anaheim and San Diego. The stage trip is now reduced to sixteen hours.

PICKLES.

The rain and snow were falling fast.

As through a stormy night, passed A youth who chafed with great display Upon a barrel in his sleigh—

Pickles to sell.

His cheeks were blue and red his nose, His ears and feet were nearly froze, And tears of cold bedimmed his sight, But still he yelled with all his might—

Pickles to sell.

As on he went, a maiden held Came out and asked him what he sold; The youth dashed up with winning smile, And said, with a voice as sweet as "dye"—

Pickles.

Oh, tell me, cried the maid in voice, Say, tell me, are they in the brine? Quite vexed, he heard the maiden say, In quite a sneering sort of way—

Such pickles!

That one so sweet should speak so tart, That she should dash on him so smart, That she should sneer at his hopes so far, At scorn his smiles, or worse, than that—

Pickles.

Away he drove through wind and rain; They tried to stop his course in vain; By asking what he had to sell; He wouldn't stop, but only yell—

Pickles.

Don't drive so fast, and old man said; That worn out nag is nearly dead; His shoes are off, another said; With shouts of scorn the youth yelled!—

Pickles.

For mercy's sake don't cross the creek; That wooden bridge is awful weak; The youth dashed on his headlong way, And only turned his head to say—

Pickles.

The night was dark, the wind was cold, The pickle boy was brave and bold; He never stopped, but yelled his right, And soon his sleigh was lost to sight—

Pickles and all.

Next morn two little wandering Jews Came to town and heard the news; Down in a drift a corpse they found, While fair and near were scattered round—

Pickles.

No More Postponements.

Dr. Aborn hereby informs the afflicted that his stay in Los Angeles will not be prolonged beyond the 3d of November. All who wish to consult him should call without delay. The many remarkable cures he has performed since his arrival in Los Angeles, should be sufficient to convince the most incredulous that it matters not what the envious say of a man, so long as he can give evidences of his ability.

ABORN COMMOTION.

Dr. Aborn arrived in Los Angeles a short time since with a view of practicing his profession for about two weeks. In so doing he simply announced in a gentlemanly and legitimate way the classes of diseases he treated as a specialty and published a few testimonials from well-known honorable gentlemen who had been cured, in most cases after the ordinary methods had failed.

This being a free country, the Doctor naturally presumed that he had as good a right to practice in the beautiful city of Los Angeles as other professional gentlemen; but some of the medical fraternity here have become greatly excited, and by their actions it would seem as though their respective prospects for the future had been entirely destroyed.

Dr. Aborn does not imagine that he has the power of curing all the invalids in Los Angeles and vicinity in the short space of a few weeks, so that there will be no field in the future for the other physicians.

Those who think that their practice will be ruined by Dr. Aborn's brief visit here must have great faith in his skill and medical ability.

Dr. Aborn, in building himself up, never tries to break others down; as it is not in his opinion either gentlemanly or politic. Since his arrival in Los Angeles, Dr. Aborn has not, by improper or objectionable words or actions, interfered with the local physicians. Those who wish have a perfect right to consult Dr. Aborn, or any other physician who may be their choice.

Neither envious nor jealous of any other professional gentleman, Dr. Aborn endeavors to demean himself courteously toward all with whom he comes in contact; it is not his desire to attack in any manner any professional man, or to open up a controversy.

The Doctor not only claims, but gives evidence, that he has some medical ability; but he did not suppose that his unusual skill and success would cause such a commotion among his professional brethren.

Cogent Facts. A physician who is constantly attending to acute and febrile diseases at the bedside, cannot have an enlarged experience in the treatment of chronic cases; nor can any one who remains in his office treating chronic diseases exclusively, have any experience of value in treating acute cases. These are axioms or self-evident truths that require neither argument nor demonstration.

Now, while Dr. ABORN is willing to acknowledge that he who confines himself to the treatment of fevers and other acute diseases should be more successful in such cases than himself, yet he begs leave to claim his superiority in the treatment of certain diseases to which he has devoted himself for a series of years.

Medical Etiquette. DR. ABORN, standing upon a strict medical etiquette toward his medical brethren, never abuses himself to speak ill of the fraternity, nor officiously engages in dissuading a patient from seeking advice from any physician that may be his choice. This being a free country, DR. ABORN holds that any man has a right to consult whom he pleases and to think and judge for himself and form his own conclusions. Hence, if a patient consults him and does not feel disposed to take his treatment he does not volunteer gratuitous advice as to whom he should or should not apply. There is quite too much of this ungentlemanly conduct among the profession, but from which DR. ABORN intends to hold himself, in the future, as in the past, entirely aloof.
